THIS road is now completed to West Baldwin, and trains are running to that point, 33 miles from Portland. Beyond West Ealdwin the road is graded o Fryeburg, 50 miles from Portland, and the rails will be laid to that point as early in the spring as the weather will permit. From Fryeburg the road is under contract to Conway, N. H., to which point trains will run in July, 1871, The road has thus far been built and equipped from cash subscriptions to the Capital Stock; but to complete it to Bartlett, N. H., and to provide addi-tional equipment for its increasing business, the Company has issued bonds to the amount of $800,-000, secured by a mortgage of its entire property t the following Trustees:

WOODBURY DAVIS, SAMUEL E. SPRING. WESTON F. MILLIKEN. We now offer these Bonds for sale and confidently and them as a safe and profitable lavestfor these reasons : 1. Low Price. At the present value of U.S. Bonds, these Bonds pay one per cent. more interest in gold on the investment. 2. Ample Security. The entire mort-gage upon the road when completed to Bartle t will be only $12,500 per mile, a sma ler incumbrance than upon any other railroad to Maine, with a single exception, and lees than the value of its rails and equipment. 3. Large and Profitable Local Traffic. The business upon the line already completed more than meets the expectations of its most sanguine friends, and secures beyond a doubt the interest on its Bonds. The line is the natural outlet of some of the finest waterpower in the State, on the Presumpscot and Saco rivers, bither-For the Holidays to unimproved on account of the difficulty of reaching the sea-board. PORTLAND.

Saturday Morning, December 31, 1870.

Letter from Cornist. CORNISH, Dec. 28, 1870. In the Editor of the Press:

This is mainly an agricultural town, alhough Cornishville is the centre of an exensive trade from the adjoining towns in the State, and across the line in New Hampshire. The Ossipee river empties into the Saco river about a mile north of Cornishville, but neither of those rivers furnish water power within the limits of the town. AGRICULTURAL.

There are but few towns in the State where here is more interest taken in agriculture than in Cornish, or where the farmers are than in Cornish, or where the farmers are generally more independent, while there are none who are considered very rich. There are several farms on which 100 tons of hay are cut in a season, with from fifty to seventy five head of cattle and horses to consume on the place, instead of selling it off, thereby keeping the farms in good condition. Among the largest farmers are Messrs. B. F. Pease, James L. Small, S. P. Small, C. Ayer and others equally worthy of mention. others equally worthy of mention. MANUFACTURING.

Cornish has never claimed to be a manufacturing town, although recent railroad accommodations and expectations of still greater, have stimulated to activity in that direction. The only water power at the village is furnished by what is called Little River. Although the uantity of water is limited the fall is about fitty feet, furnishing excellent power a portion of the year. This is employed in running a grist mill and for sawing and machinery purposes. Mr. W. W. Adams intends, in the poses. Mr. W. W. Adams intends, in the spring, to erect a large building for various kinds of manufacturing purposes, putting in a steam engine to be used when the water fails. Messrs. H. Ayers and Sons are getting out about 400 sleighs a year and Mr. E. B. Cote about 100 wagons. Mr. Cole is erecting a large manufactury for carrying on all the various branches of his business which will be completed early in the spring. Messrs. T. Brackett and Son are making about 32 000 coats a year and Mr. F. Hatch about the same number, giving employment and the means of number, giving employment and the means of support to bundleds of families. The shook and stave business is carried on quite exten sively for which the town and vicinity furhishes excellent timber.

TRADE AND TRADERS. There are now five traders in the village, with another store nearly ready for occupancy, doing an average business of $20.000 a year each. Hon. John O'Brion, one of the oldest each. Hon. John O'Brion, one of the oldest and most successful, as well as most respected merchants of this town, who has held several important offices in the State, is now confined to his bed the most of the time from a nervous difficulty, from which it is feared he may not recover. He retired from active business several years ago and is succeeded by his son, A. G. O'Brion, Esq., who has enlarged the store and commands an extensive trade for miles around. Dr. W. B. Pike who has been for many years engaged in the anothecary br. W. B. Pike who has been for many years engaged in the apothecary business and has been long and favorably known throughout this section of the State, died at his residence in this town on Saturday last, at the age of 72 years. His funeral was attended on Wednesday by a large number of relatives and triends. RAILROADS AND STAGES.

The Portland and Ogdensburg railroad, which now extends to West Baldwin, passes within about a mile, on a direct line, of this de to have a road laid out and bridge Luilt to strike the road at the nearest point, as the Directors of the P. & O. road are ready to stop at a depot at such point as will best accom-modate the business men of Cornish. Stanley is running a daily line from the Baldwin depot through Cornish to Porter and another depot through Cornish to Porter and another tri-weekly line to Freedom. Phibrick is running a tri-weekly stage from the same place to Effingham. The North Conway and Hirsm stages, daily, meets the cars at West Baldwin, and the Lovel! stage—tri-weekly.—A stage for Bridgion connects with the cars at South Windham daily, and at East Baldwin tri-weekly. At Steep Falls a stage connects for Limington, so that railroad and stage accommodations are such as cannot fail to meet the public demand.

the public demand.

A railroad route has been surveyed from Cornish to Portland, but if the Portland and Rutland road should be built a saving of a million of dollars could be made by uniting with the P. & O. road at Cornish or the Portland and Rochester road at some point now built or proposed. Then again the movement to build a road up the Saco river from Saco or Biddeford to Steep Ealls would strike all the important water privileges on the Saco and connect with the towns on the line of the P. & R. road at Bar Mills and with towns onth & R. road at Bar Mills, and with towns north of Steep Falls at that place and everybody be accommodated who could be with a road running so nearly parallel with the P. & R. and the P. & O. roads. The Legislature will undoubtedly grant a charter for as many railroads as may be desired, but where is the vind coming from.

coming from.

Those who are accustomed to railroad travelling say the Portland and Ogdensburg is one of the smoothest riding roads, for a new one, to be found in New England. Capt. Newcomb, the road-master, keeps an eye upon the road, roady to put on men whenever and wherever a shovel full of gravel is needed.

From the Boston Traveller.

Mount Washington in Winter Everybody knows that Mount Washington. n New Hampshire, is visited by thousands of persons in the summer months, and that its limate corresponds better with that [of Labrador or Greenland than that of New England. In the winter universal desolation reigns there; not] even the proprietors of the hotels upon the summit venturing from their snug quarters below to learn what events were transpiring upon the icy cone. The aborigines declared it to be sure death if any one climbed the mountain-since it was the sanctuary of divinities who would not suffer their abode to be scanned with impunity. Their successors first adventurously found the summit-then erected rude places for shelter, and finally constructed a carriage road and railway, so that even the most feeble persons could view the panorama. But these visits

HISTORY OF THE PRESENT EXPEDITION. Twelve years ago Professors C. H. Hitchock and J. H. Huntington, independently of each other, conceived the project of spending the winter upon the summit of Mt. Washington, but the project did not take shape till the organization of the geological survey of New Hampshire in 1868. They found it impossible to make the necessary preparations for occupying the summit during the winter of 1869, chiefly for want of a dwelling. Hence they sought for a less elevated summit, where a single winter's experience might prepare the way for the great adventure. That peak [was Moosilauke-nearly 5000 feet above the ocean. The lessee, D. G. Marsh, of Warren, N. H., obligingly placed his house at the service of Prof. Huntington and his comrade, A. F. Clough, of Warren, photographer. Their three months' occupation of Moosilauke was full of adventure, and experience was acquired of the highest importance. The scientific results were important—disclosing the knowledge of violent winds there accurately measured, and remarkable forms of frost work never before described or photographed. Attention was called to this mountain, and a carriage road became a necessity, which was Min the month of September, 1869, the Mount Washington Railway Company generously tendered the use of their depot upon the summit, to this meteorological party during the winter; and the necessary sapples were immediately murchased and formatical were immediately purchased and forwarded to the mountain. The enterprise, though of a meteorological character, has been adopted by the geological survey of the State, while the expense has been assumed by the State geologist, relying upon a sympathizing public to provide the fund by subscription. THE ASCENT IN WINTER. From the depot of the Mt. Washington Railway, in summer, the ascent, on foot, if a person is accustomed to walking, is comparatively easy. Although the ties are three feet apart and there is a rise of a foot in three a part of the way, yet a person with muscles strong from exercise can walk to the very summit of the mountain without sitting down to rest. But suppose it is winter.

to rest. But suppose it is winter. The snow has accumulated to a considerable depth, even in the ties, but then it is no great hindrance; should it, however, be attempted a second time, you will find that the snow that was compressed beneath the feet has changed to ice, and the oval forms give a still less secure footing; it it is thawing, and the ice is almost ready to slip off as you tread upon it, everyone will see that upon a tread upon it, everyone will see that upon a trestle thirty feet high walking is somewhat dangerous, and to walk down is a feat from which even a most expert acrobate would shrink .-If at the depot we take snow shoes, we can walk with comparative ease balf way up, and then toe snow is so compact that they are no longer needed, and as there are few ir egularities in the surface the walking is better than in summer.

Above the limit of the trees the railway is covered with ice of every fantastic shape, and the framework of the Gulf tank is now so or-namented that one can hardly believe that it that the rude structure we see in summer. The Lizzie Bourne Monument, which we have been accustomed to see only a rough pile of stones, is now an object of architectural beauty such as no sculptor can carve from marble. Immediately above the monument the simber treaties are completely covered with deposits mmediately above the monument the timber tresties are completely covered with deposits of frozen mist extending two or three feet horizontally from the timber on which the track is laid, and every piece of timber which forms the trestle is ornamented with beautiful forms of "frost work," deposited in graceful curves as the wind sweeps through the trestle. On the summit the bildings, the piles of rock and stones, so rough in summer, are now completely covered with frost, while the snow fills the spaces between the jegged rocks. On the sides of the buildings towards the northwest the frost has accumulated so that row it is more than a foot in thickness. The "frost work" on the depot, while it has everywhere the same general appearance, the points show work" on the depot, while it has every water, the same general appearance, the points show exactly the direction of the wind as it came into every nook and corner of the building.—

At times only the very high-est point of Mount Washington was above the clouds, It reminded me fcreibly of the time, during the Champlain period, when the whole of New England, except Mount Wash-ington, was beneath the waves of the ocean. Portland, December 9, 1870. de1d1m

It is true that Maine has gained only a lit tle over four hundred in population during the last decade. Therefore, if Sir William Jones' answer to his time-honored conundrum, "What constitutes a State?" is regarded as the true and the only true one, and if alone constitute a commonwealth Lis rather discouraging. But Sir William ho doubt had reference to quality rather than quantity. In that case, if wealth be regarded as a desirable attribute of "men," the prospect is not by any means so discoura ging. For, though we have only a few more men than in 1860, they must be very much richer men if we are to put any confidence in a State valuation which we will define for the benefit of the uninitiated as an ingenious piece of guess-work, effected at stated periods by several respectable gentlemen who are solemnly commissioned for that purpose .-For the purpose of investing the exercise of their functions with a proper degree of dignity and gravity, the commissioners base their estimates upon town valuations, in some of which the value of cows is given in money, while in others money is valued in cows, and in a third class cows are returned as equivalent to a given number of pigs. But, as the same methods prevailed in 1860 and 1870 the relative wealth of the State may perhaps be determined. In 1860 Maine was worth $159,-770,577, and in 1870 $219,666,504, exclusive of wild lands. This increase of wealth is likely to continue, and finally to bring population with it, for the diffusion of knowledge as to our unrivaled facilities for manufacturing, for which Maine is so much indebted to our able and industrious fellow citizen, Walter Wells, must bring capital into the State. The Sprague purchase-or donation - at Augustaamated in 1867, is likely to amount to more than at one time seemed likely. We have no doubt that in 1880 we shall see most of the more desirable privileges occupied.

Maine is much richer in railroads than in 1860. The number of miles in operation at that time was 472. Since then there have been built the Newport and Dexter, the Piscataquis, the Belfast and Moosehead Lake and the Knox and Lincoln, (nearly complet ed.) The old York and Cumberland road, now the Portland and Rochester, and the Portland and Oxford Central have been extended. The Somerset, the European and North American and the Ogdensburg are under good headway. The extension of the Maine Central from Danville Junction to connect with the Portland and Kennebec will soon be ready for the cars. The Houlton Branch brings Aroostook County within easy reach of the outside world. When the roads in actual process of construction are completed, Maine will have about double the number of miles of rails she had in 1860, and there are innumerable others projected, most of which will undoubtedly be built before 1880. The Bangor and Oldtown road, the first built in the State, has been discontinued. It was the second road built in the country, and, so far as we know, it is the first where the rails have been taken up. Maine, like Dogberry, 'hath had her losses.'

The war nearly destroyed her shipbuilding - industry. It is sad to think that during the past year not quite twenty thousand tons of shipping have been built in the whole State. But the most unaccountable loss has been from fire. The business parts of the cities of sta, Portland, Calais and Eastport, an the town of Wiscasset have been destroyedthe latter twice within five years. No other State has been afflicted in anything like the same degree. The Portland fire of July 4th, 1866, was one of the most destructive on record. Augusta, Portland and Eastport are today handsomer cities than before their terrible trial. No doubt Calais and Wiscasset will also be indirectly benefitted. The modification of the school laws during the last ten years we regard as one of the most important events that has taken place. The appointment of county supervisors and the vesting of power to employ teachers in the school committees, instead of in the dis trict agents are both steps toward an educational revival which must come in this country, unless it is to become the home of bar-The planting of a colony of Scandinavians in Aroostook County the present year is an event that deserves more than a passing notice, because of the immense possibilities there are in it. If the stream of Scandinavians once gets fairly turned in this direction, there will be a speedy end to the decline of population, and the original inhabitants will be but an insignificant element of the people, so that we shall be "all of us Danes"-or Swedes or Norwegians. "New Sweden" may mark the beginning of a new era, and a good one, we It will be remembered that in the ideal state of Sir William Jones, whose convenient numbers must end as they have begun this scrap of current history, The sovereign law, the States collected will O'er thrones and globes elate, Sits empress, crowning good, repressing ill.

Here again Maine has answered his requirements. The law providing for the death penalty has fallen into desuetude in Maine and for many years there has been only the dim shadows of the gallows here. But since 1860 the people have on one occasion been gratified by a most impressive. vindication of the majesty of the law in the hanging of the negro boy, Clifton Harris-an ignorant, brutal boy, whose practical indulgence of his homicidal tendencies might have been surely enough restrained by prison walls. But the moral influence of his execution was needed-the spectacle of his death being so civ ilizing-so humanizing. Since that execution the number of homicides has been unprecedented, and our future Governors may at any stimulate the moral feelings of the people by ordering a prisoner to be hanged.

Since 1860 Maine has still further vindicated her claim to be called the "Dirigo" State by liberalizing her laws in regard to the property rights of married women, and by removing the restrictions upon the admission of evidence. In these two respects Maine probably has the most civilized code in the

What the World Has Done in Ten Years A REVIEW OF THE LAST DECADE.

It has been asserted that the decad that ends with to-morrow is the most remarkable in human history. If the statement be made a little narrower, so as to claim no more than that the last ten years have been much more remarkable for events favorable to human rights and to international communication than any other equal length of time, it would be unquestionably true. If one would share Whittier's generous appreciation of the "good time coming," and would with him ex-Ring, bells, in unreared steeples, it is only necessary to take a summary view of events of the first class, namely, those favora-

HUMAN RIGHTS. and then to estimate what, at a corresponding rate of progress, is likely to be the condition of succeeding generations. At the beginning of 1861 slavery in the United States was not only firmly established but aggressive. Now, by virtue of President Lincoln's proclamations of Sept. 22d, 1862, and Jan. 1st, 1863, the 13th constitutional amendment and amendments to the constitution of the former slave the stubborn patriots are at last overcome. tes the four millions of slaves are free; by the fourteenth amendment they are citizens of the United States; by the civil rights bill their ivileges are enlarged in the way indicated in the title of that law; and finally, the fifteenth amendment, declared adopted March 30th, 1870, confers upon them the right of suffrage,an event which, as President Grant well said in his proclamation, is "The most important since the nation came into life." One cannot realize that it is but a few years ago that the race as whose representative Hiram A. Revels took his seat in the Senate of the United States on the 25th of . February last was still the victim of Serfdom was overthrown in Russia by the preclamation of Alexander II., promulgated March 17th, 1861. By Serrano's decree of the we are not mistaken, England and the United swept our commerce from the sea.

States have discontinued their joint arrangements for suppressing it.

There have been during this eventful decade everal other most noteworthy modifications of political institutions in the interest of progress and the amelioration of the condition of nankind. Among these we may mention as perhaps the most important, though at first glance it seems insignificant, the enactment of a law in the territory of Wyoming on the 10th of December, 1869, by which women are completely emancipated from all the political disabilities to which they are subject elsewhere. Since that date woman have voted, held office and served on juries without any of those unpleasant consequences that have sometimes been anticipated. In Utah also women are permitted to vote

The other events of the kind we are de scribing are the establishment of a Republic in France on the 5th of September, the founding of a constitutional monarchy in Spain in place of the Bourbon despotism, the end of the fearfully oppressive temporal authority of the Pope and Cardinal Autonelli at Rome, the release of Venetia from Austrian rule, the restoration of virtual autonomy to Hungary, the treaties negotiated by the lamented Anson . Burling me between China and the Western powers, and the reform bills passed by the British Parliament during the Disraeli and Gladstone ministries.

It should not be forgotten, either, that Spain and Prussia have abolished capital punish-

And it may be doubted whather the over throw of the cruel dictator Lopez in Paraguay, who at the end of a five years' desperate struggle was killed on the 1st of March, 1870, of Theodore of Abyssinia and of Maximilian of Mexico ought not to be reckoned in this cat-In view of all this who can hesitate to accept

INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATION.

A fitting supplementary achievement those above mentioned is the progress made in rendering the social and commercial intercourse of the nations swift and easy. "Suplementary," we say, because the readier association made possible by telegraph lines, railroads and canals, is of all things the best calculated to render the peoples more homogeneous, and to establish what the French would call the "solidarity" of nations. And solidarity means liberty and peace. The enumeration of these great works is sufficient to fill the mind with a most gratifying astonishment .-And first we may regard the telegraph line extended to California in 1861 and the Pacific railroad finished May 10th, 1869, as international works, for they greatly facilitate the in tercourse of Europe with Asia. Then there are the first transatlantic cables ever laid, one in 1866, the second in 1867 and the French cable from Brest to Duxbury, Mass., in 1869 .-The very important cable between Bombay and Aden was laid in March of the present year. The Suez Canal was completed in November, 1869. Only last Monday the Mt. Cenis tunnel, nearly eight miles long, connecting France and Italy by a road under the Alps, was completed. Nor should the rapid progress on the Hoosac Tunnel, the survey of the Isthmus of Panama for a ship canal, by Commander Selfridge, be forgotton. . How long will it be at this rate before men will discard the narrowness of patriotism and become generous cosmopolitans? How long Till the war-drums throb no longer and the battle flags are furled In the Parliament of man, the Federation of world?

GREAT EVENTS. Moreover, the decade is remarkable for the number of countries that during its continuance have passed through some of the most important crises of their existence,

THE UNITED STATES. In this country it has been the greatest era since the Revolution. The election in Georgia last week by means of which every seat in the in just ten years marks the end of one of the most tremendous conflicts in which men have ever engaged. On the 9th of January, 1861. the first shot of the war for the Union was fir ed at the steamer Star of the West. The Supreme Court and Congress have fixed the legal date of the close of the war at Aug. 20th, 1866, when President Johnson's proclamation announcing that fact was issued, though all arm ed conflict ended in May, 1865.

The impeachment of President Johnson, who was acquitted by one vote on the 26th day of May, 1868, was the first event of the kind that ever occurred in our history, and was at the time regarded as threatening the stability The assassination of President Lincoln, on Good Friday, 1865, was also a unique event in our history, and it is devoutly to be hoped it will continue to be so.

The passage of the legal tender act, Feb. 25, 1862, has had an important influence upon the business world, and the passage of an anti-repudiation resolution by the House of Repre sentatives by a vote of 123 to 1, on the 1st of December, 1869, was a most effective measure for re-establishing confidence in the nation's financial integrity. Though the war has had an unfavorable ef fect on the material prosperity of the country, there are now within its limits 48,860 miles of railroad; in 1860 there were only 28,771. The decrease in the amount of tonage owned by American citizens is the most obvious, and apparently the most incurable of the evils occasioned by the war, if we except the irreparable loss of blood. The census returns are not yet full enough to furnish any precise details as to the increase of population.

BRITISH AMERICA. The time is a memorable one for the Cana das, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, be cause they were united under a single genera government in the summer of 1866, and be came the "Dominion of Canada." Canadian will also remember this period for its series of Fenian raids and the termination of the recip rocity treaty with the United States-both events seriously damaging the financial prosperity of their country. The beginning and rapid progress of the European and North American and the Intercolonial railroads furnish means for the ultimate recovery of lost ground, while the movement looking toward annexation to the United States, especially in Nova Scotia, will, in a few years perhaps, give the whole of British America participation in whatever prosperity the United States may enjoy. The withdrawal of British troops from Canada during the past year seems to pave the way for such a consumma

The organization of the Red River territory and the revolt of Reihle and his French halfbreed associates, a year ago, has attracted some attention. The territory is now called "Manitobah," and Col. Wooley has succeeded in establishing order there, though Reihle and others have fled over the American border where they plot mischief. Newfoundland is not disposed to unite it fortunes with the Dominion, for on the 3d of last February an anti-confederation resolution was passed by a vote of 21 to 8.

MEXICO. It has been the heroic age of Mexico. The French invasion soon after the beginning of our war was successful, and Marshal Bazaine who has since been so thoroughly beaten by the Prussians, here won his laurels. The withdrawal of the French after the close of our war and the capture and execution of Maximilian in 1867 put an end to the shortlived triumph of "the crowned infidel of France." President Juarez has since had only the frequent insurrections of his own people to suppress. At the present time an election for President of the Republic is pending, Juarez being a candidate for re-election and having Lerdo for an opponent.

The revolt of Cuba against Spain immediately followed the expulsion of the Bourbons from the latter country in the fall of 1868. Dulce de Rhodas and Valmazeda, supported by thousands of troops, have in turn been sent over from Spain to suppress the revolt. More than two years have elapsed, but still the fighting goes on, through a Havana dispatch dated Dec-28th states for the hundredth time that the "Rebels" are surrendering themselves and that GREAT BRITAIN.

John Brown has "marched on" in England as well as in America, and though thirty thousand people still own all the land in the kingdom, though royalty and the House of Lords still exist, and though church and State are not yet divorced, the people have made great gains since 1860. They did not permit Palmerson to recognize our rebels, and when he died in 1865, and a Whig ministry under Russell succeeded, to be followed in turn by the Tory Derby and Disraeli ministries and the quasi Liberal Gladstone ministry, they have extorted from all some valuable concessions. From Disraeli they obtained the reform bill of 1868 which establishes the next thing to universal suffrage, and from Gladstone the disestablishment of the Irish church, the Irish land bill and the education bill. The value of these reforms is very great and is at least equivalent to FRANCE. Within the last ten years many remarkable things have happened to France. The miscarriage of the Mexican expedition, the quarrel with Prussia about Luxemburg after the war of 1866, the defeat of Garibaldi at Mentana in 1867, the cession of Venetia to Italy as the agent of Austria, the "Exposition" of 1867, the declaration of war against Prussia in July last, the defeat and surrender of the Emperor the establishment of a Republic, the complete overthrow of the French armies and the beseiging of Paris are all events of the first historical importance, the true significance and final result of which we must leave the next decade to teach us GERMANY.

Ten years have made the Germany that the Great Napoleon so easily conquered, the first military power in the world. Beginning with the Schleswig-Holstein war of 1864 it has marched through the wil ole decade in triumph. Duppel, which speedily brought to an end the first war, Sadowa, which at the end of three weeks of fighting in the summer of 1866 humbled Austria and compelled her to retire !from the Germrn confederation, and Sedan, which on the 2d of last September crushed the power of France, have vastly enlarged the Prussian territories and more than doubled its population. Schleswig-Holstein, Hanover, Electoral Hesse, Nassau and Frankfort were taken full possession of in 1866. The formation [of the North German Confederation, which is a synonyn for Prussia, now gives place to the union of all Germany. The German Empire, which was overthrown by the first Napoleon in 1806, is to be reestablished and [King William is to be the Emperor. Baden, Bavaria, Hesse, Darmstadt and Wurtemberg, States not here tofore belonging to the North German Confedration, have given their consent to this arrangement, and Alsace, Lorraine and perhaps poor little Luxemburg are to be swallowed up. If Belgium and Holland, also, do not have to succumb to this hungry giant they may think themselves fortunate. Sure enough
Dear Fatherland, no longer thine
Firm stand thy sons to watch the Rhine.

SPAIN. Whether Spain has done well or ill during he decade must be decided, like the similar question touching France, by the future. That the Isabella whom the people, led by Prim of the army, Topete of the navy and others, deposed in the autumn of 1868, was a bad woman and a bad sovereign there is do doubt. The regent Serrano has been a far better ruler than his predecessor, and the world will look with great anxiety to see whether the Duke of Aosta, who on the first of January begins his reign as Amadeus I., will be an improvement on the Bourbons. The adoption of a constitution that abolishes slavery and recognises liberty of conscience is certainly a gain. ITALY.

When Gen. Cotona entered Rome on the 21st of last September and overthrew the temporal power of the Pope, Italy, for the first time in many centuries, was united under one government. The plebiscitum of Oct. 2d by which the people of the Papal States ratified the new order of things, consummated a movement that was begun by Garibaldi when he gave the two Sicilies to the King of Sardinia. At the same time Napoleon III., after humbling the Austrians at Magenta and Solfereno, added to Victor Emanuel's domains all but Rome and a small fragment of the Papal States. In 1866 Italy formed an alliance, with Prussia against the Austrians, and though jealousy of Garibaldi and other causes resulted in an Italian defeat at Custozza, Venetia was reunited to the rest of Italy as a result of the Prussian victories. The overthrow of Napoleon this summer compelled the withdrawall of the French troops from Rome, but for whose presence there the the old hero of Caprers would [have finished the work of Italian unification in 1867. The Italian capital will now be removed from Florence to Rome.

OTHER COUNTRIES. The overthrow and death of Salnave, Presient of Hayti, on the 18th of December, [1869 and the succession of Saget, the defeat and death of Theodore, King of Abyssinia and the pacification of Hungary in 1867 and the amnesty to Kossuth and other patriots of 1848, are deserving of a passing notice, and so perhaps is the futile war that Spain has waged during a part of the decade against the South American republies.

MISCELLANEOUS. The sale of Alaska by Russia to the United tates is an event of considerable importance. In the religious world we have to note the Romish Ecumenical Council which ibegan its essions at Rome in the 9th of December, 1869, and adopted before its adjournment a creed and the dogma of Papal infallibility, the defection of Father Hyacinth, the eloquent French Carmelite, from the Romish church, freedom of Protestant worship in Spain, the Union of the Old and New School Presbyterians in this country, and the failure of the attempt to ; reunite the Methodist church North and South.

> Necrology of 1870. UNITED STATES.

In the necrology of this country for the past ear, the most prominent and saddest feature is the disclosure of the fact that death is rapidv removing the military and naval heroes who have cast a lustre upon the history of their country. Farragut, the foremost naval commander of the age, Gen. George H. Thomas, the hero of Chickamauga, Franklin, and Nashville, who died untimely, before his fellow-citizens had fairly begun to appreciate his modest worth, Admiral Dahlgren, whose name will be long remembered in connection with his inventions, Gen. Joseph A. Mower, formerly leader of the Twentieth Corps and Command er of the department of Louisiana, Gen. E. A. Hitchcock, Commissary-General of prisoners during the war, Gen. Wm. T. H. Brooke, Comnodore Meade, and many more less conspic ous officers of the army and navy have died since January, 1870. Commodore Ritchie and Commodore Champlin, distinguished in the war of 1812, are to be added to the list. Gen. R. E. Lee, commander of the Confederate armies, and Gen. Wilcox of the same service, who was killed by the falling of the floor of the Richmond Court House, are also to be men The list of our public men is longer, but n o distinguished. Ex-Governors Cony of Maine, Packer of Pennsylvania, Trimble of Ohio, and Price of Missouri; Gov. Washburn of Vermont; David G. Burnet, first Presiden of the Republic of Texas; ex-Senators Durkee, and James S. Green of Missouri, and Senator Norton of Minnesota; Anson Burlingame, who was cut off in the prime of life and in the midst of a great work; George Ashmun of Massachusetts, who presided over the convention that first nominated Abraham Lincoln; Judge Grier, Horace Binney, B. B. French, and Hiram Walbridge; J. L. Dawson, author of the homestead law, and the notorious Pierre Soule are the best known

The church has lost Bishops Chase of New Hampshire, Kemper of Wisconsin, and Thompson of West Virginia; the latter belonging to he Methodist communion.

None of the foremost names in American literature have been taken this year from the list of the living. Wm. Gilmore Simms, the Southern author, Dr. John McClintock, who is so well known to theological students, Wm. Willis, our own amiable and accomplished historian, Rev. Albert Barnes, author of "Barnes" Notes," George D. Prentice, A. D. Richard son, Anna Cora Ritchie (Mowatt), Henry C. Sweetsir, Cornelius Wandell, Gulian C. Verplank, Nathaniel Willis, Fitzhugh Ludlow, James Harper, and Eliskim Littell make up nearly the full list.

Jerome Bonaparte, famous merely becaus he was a Banaparte, John Radway of "R. R. R." fame, Seth Boyden, the inventor, and Samuel May, the Boston merchant, are all that are left to mention.

FOREIGN. Among the foreign literary men who hav died during the year are Charles Dickens Mark Lemon, editor of Punch, Dumas, senior and Paul de Cassagnac, who was taken pris oner with the Emperor at Sedan. . Of military men we may mention Major General Evans of the British Army, who commanded the forces that sacked Washington during the war of 1812, Count Flahault one of the First Napoleon soldiers. Balfe, the composer, Sir James Clark, physician in ordinary to the Queen, Sir James Simpson, who claimed the discovery of chloro form as his own, Dr. Copeland, another very distinguished English physician, Maclise and Pyne, two celebrated English artists are to be added to the list of the illustrous dead.

Of men prominent in political life, we may mention Earl Clarendon, English Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Marquis of Westminster, richest man in England, Baron Tenterden, a celebrated English Judge, Prince Henri de Bour bon, killed by the Duke of Montpensier in a duel, Duke de Broglie, Marquis de Olinda, re- ed as they went np. Do I sleep; do I dream?
Do I wonder and doubt?
Are things what they seem,
Or is visions about?
Is our civilization a failure?
Or is the Caucasian played out?

Which expressions are strong:
Yet would feebly imply
Some account of a wrong—
Not to call it a lie—
As was worked off on William, my pardner,
Which his name it was W. Nye.

He came down to the Ford
On the very same day
Of that Lottery, drawed
By those sharps at the Bay:
And he says to me, "Truthful, how goes it?"
I replied, "it is far, far from gay— "For the camp has gone wild
On this Lottery game,
And has even beguiled
'Lojin Dick,' by the same;"
Which said Nye to me, "Injins is pizen—
Do you know what his number is, James?"

I replied, "7, 2, 2, 8, 4, is his hand";
Which he started—and drew
Out a list, which he scanned;
Then he softly went for his revolver,
With language I cannot command.

Then I said, "William Nye!"
But he turned upon me,
And the look in his eye
Was quite painful to see.
And he says; "You mistake; this poor Injin
I protects from such sharps as you be!"

I was shocked and withdrew:
But I grieve to relate,
When he next met my view
Injin Dick was his mate,
And the two around town was a lying
In a frightfully dissolute state. Which the war-dance they had Round a tree at the Bend, Was a sight that was sad; And it seemed that the end Would not justify the proceedings, As I quiet remarked to a triend.

For that Injin he fled
The next day to his band;
And we found William spread
Very loose on the strand,
With a peaceful-like mile on his features,
And a dollar greenback in his hand.

Which, the same when rolled out,
We observed with surprise,
What that Injin, no doubt,
Had believed was the prise—
Them figures in red in the corner,
Which the number of notes specifics.

Was it guile, or a dream?
Is it Nye that I doubt?
Are things what they seem,
Or is visions about?
Is sur civilization a failure?
Or is the Caucasian played out?

A Dutchess County, N. Y. letter says that the cattle disease now prevailing in that locality is the well-known foot disease of Europe, and this is thought to be its first appearance in this country. It is very contagious and separating the diseased animals does not usually save its spread through the herd into which it has broken. The disease has been traced to the importation of two sick animals from Liverpool to Canada in August last and the contagion spread in both of the Canadian Provinces, from the provinces to Oneida county, from Oneida county to Albany, and from that city to different towns in Dutchess county, where the disease has broken out and is now spreading.

Advices from Paris are that on Wednesday the Prussians furiously attacked Forts Rosny Nogent and Mont Avron. An attempt wa made at a general bombardment but the attack was repulsed with loss to the enemy. A Versailles dispatch says the Prussians occupied Mont Avron after ajday's bombardment. The French left their dead behind, and many gun carriages and rifles. The French are reported to have made a sor-tie from Belfort and punished the enemy bad-Gen. Bourbaki's army is now marching to

The French vice-consul on the island of Jersey has ordered all the French refugees to report at the army headquarters for service in France immediately. All who fail to comply with the order are to be considered deserters. The Prussian government has replied to the representation of the English cabinet that it will give indemnity bonds to the owners of the British vessels recently destroyed to impede the navigation of the Seine, but declines to compensate the sailors for harsh treatment.

SHALL WOMEN BE REPUBLICANS.-This question is now authoritatively answered, we suppose. The Revolution rebukes Mrs. Livermore for calling herself a Republican and Miss Edgarton for calling herself a Democrat. It adds: "We cannot imagine how a woman with any conscious sense of her humiliating disfranchisement can want to be considered as a partisan of either of two parties, both of which equally refuse to accord to her the suffrage which they claim for themselves." .

THE Argus, with the pride of the Pharisee in the temple, boasts that Boss Tweed and Sheriff O'Brien of New York have given [respectively $50,000 and $24,000 to the poor of that city.-We don't see anything remarkable in this generosity. It is but a small percentage of the money they have stolen from the people of New York since they have been in power, and if they cannot afford to give this trifle to charitable purposes as an aid to retaining their places they are ungrateful scamps. Peter B. Sweeny, who also holds a fat office in New York, has given $1000 towards providing proper reception for the Fenians just released from an English prison. [From his past history and present associations we have a right to doubt his disinterestedness.

ANOTHER MURDER CONDONED.—The Coroner's jury that investigated the cause of the fall of the piano factory building in New York by which four lives were lost, returned a verdict exonerating the builder and owner and suggested that a change be made in the building law. DECEMBER TERM-GODDARD, J., PRESIDING. FRIDAY.-No. 392-New entry-Geo. F. Emery vs. Goddard, J .- This suit, although not large i amount, involves a question of grave importan and entirely new, so far as I am aware, to the Court of the State. The city of Bangor in 1854 obtained authority from the Legislature to issue a limited number of bonds in aid of the P. & K. R. R., ther were made payable in twenty years with semi-an nual coupons, payable each April and October. At the December |term, 1869, the Supreme Cou of the United States, after most careful and patient deliberation, announced the decision that the princideliberation, announced the decision that the principal and interest of all bonds and other lawful contracts made prior to the legal tender act of Congress, passed July 11, 1862, are payable in gold and silver com of the United States. Yet the authorities of langer have recused to pay either the April or October coupons of this year in gold, but offer only currency, and this suit is brought to enforce payment in gold of the April and October coupons of this year on a $1000 city railroad aid bond or 1854, plaintiff claiming $60 and interest in gold less United States revenue tax of $1.50 on the April coupon, with interest from their maturity, while detendants tender the amounts in currency only. mounts in currency only.

Article 3 cettor 2 is as follow:—"The judicial power (of the united States and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority." The Constitution of Maine, Article IX. Seet. 1, provides that "every berson elected or appointed to either of the places or ffices provited in this Constitution, or commissioned o any judicial, executive or military office under this State, shall, before he enter on the dicharge of the dulies of his place or office, take and subscribe he tollowing oath or affirmation:—'I, —, do wear that I will support the Constitution of the Justed States and of this State so long as I shall continue a citizen thereof. So help me God." The John language of the Constitution of the United States and the letter and spirit of the judicial eath required by the Constitution on Maine point out unmistakeably the line of duty for the state Judges in auch cases as these. The final interpreter of the national Constitution and of the as of Congress having once authoritatively promulgated the law to the nation, the State Judge is required, as I understand, t, in rood taith prompily to apply and enforce it, whether it meets his approval or otherwise.

In this paracular case, however, this Csurt not only recognizes the superior authority of the General Government and its Courts, but regards the immediate enforcement of the law laid down by the United States Supreme Court as necessary to the result of our State, already, in my judgment, seriously compromised by the remarkable attitude of neveral of its counties and several of its counties and monicipalities, to say nothing of some of the leading corporations created or existing by its charier.

While the State itself, by the Resolve of March 23, 1870, promptly recognized its plain duty in this respect, and while this county and city and some others have hastened to preserve their financial honor by paying all their obligations prot to 1862 in gold, even where parties, for whose benefit the obligations were incurred, have refused or neglected to make good the payments thus made in their behalf, other counties, cities, towns and railroad corporations have refused to comply with the legal liability imposed by the interpretation given to the law by the United States Court. The loss to Portland during the present year from this source alone is not far from $15,000, being the me sure of the difference between its standard of commercial integrity toward its bondholders and that of some of its benefic iries toward it.

Thus confusion has been occasioned, and the financial credit and honor of our State imp ired, and it is high time that the obligations of debtors should be manistakeably defined by the Courts of the State and all excuse for such financial irregularities taken away by erecting a standard so near that it cannot be overlooked or ignored, as has been attempted in regard to that set up at Washington. It is almost as important that the law should be distinctly made known by the Court as that it should be correctly decided, and above all it is desirable that there should be uniformity and harmons between the decisions of our State Courts and those of the nation on subjects over which the latter have final jurisdiction. At any rate, unless we are willing to be classed among repudiators, it is absolutely necessary that what is their legal duty.

Many of these bonds and securities are in the hands of Widows, orphans, minors and aget persons who

Many of these bonds and securities are in the hands of vidows, orphans, minors and agest persons who are it able to sue, or it able, shrink from testing the question by a suit, and in case of coupons the amounts in dispute though very large in the aggregate, and therefore worth resisting by the debtors, are too small individually to warrant the delay and uncertainty of suits by the separate hoders. Too strong a temptation is thus presented to the cupidity of the debtor to refuse to pay his lawful indebtedness, in the double hope that many of his creditors will be harrassed into an acceptance of ten per cent. less than is their due; and that by availing himself to the utmost of "the law's delay" a final decision in the case of the few who are beld enough to sue for their rights may be postponed until gold shall have fallen to (ar by an act resuming specie payments, or atleast have approximated so closely to that standard as practically to enable their bor to es ape the payment of each of the primium which the purchase and payment of gold to his creditors when it was due would invoice. Therefore, in my opinion, credit is due the plaintiff in this case in thus bringing his legal rights against the city of Bangor to a legal test, and, therefore, I have lost no time in giving a decision at this the first term that detendants, if they think proper, may have early opportunity to obtain the opinion of the Law Court of this State npon the point lowoved.

In obedience to what I understand to be the settled and final decision of the Sugreeme Court of the point lovoived.

In obscilence to what I understand to be the settled and final decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, and in accordance with the actual practice of the States, counties, cities and corporations of the highest financial credit, and in accordance with what I regard as the demands of Justice, I am of the opinion that detendants are not at liberty to repudiate any part of their original contract with their bondholders as interpreted by the United States and I decide that plaintiff is entitled to the full amount claimed by him in gold.

institution this exact the chapel, co streets. Those we freshments are referenced. The sunday Section 1 decide that plaintiff is entitled to the full amount claimed by him in gold. the Chapel at 112 P. M. to-morrow.

The Legislature and people of Maine have been bitherto distinguished for their support of the national Government in the most stringent measures for the assertion and enforcement of its supremacy throughout the Union and for their stern opposition to any measures tending towards repudiation of any part of the national indebtedness in any form or guise, however specious, and it is believed that a very large majority of the citzens of our leading citles and towns are willing to accept and in good faith to discharge their full obligations.

In the case at bar I am slow to believe that the standard or mercantile integrity and municipal good laith is really any lower at Bangor than at Portland, and I am confident that a large majority of the citizens of Bangor would prefer that the credit of their city should be fully maintained, especially as they have an easy remedy for any temporary loss thereby against the railroad corporation which is bound in law and in equity to indemnify the city.

If, however, I am in error in this opinion and overcestimate the good seese and municipal pride and integrity of the citizens of Bangor; then if I am correct in my views of the law, it is all the more important that the law should be made known to them and be enforced upon them at an early day.

Decision for plaintiff for $60.23 in gold and silver coin of the United States.

M. L. A. Association. The 19.h Anniversary of the Portland Mercautile Library Association was celebrated in a happy manner at City Hall last evening .-The decorations of the hall were neat and trate ful. On the gallery fronting the platform were the letters and figures, "M. L. A., 1851-1870," wrought in evergreen. On the side galleries were the portraits of the several Presidents of the Association, surrounded with evergreen wreaths. The floor of the hall had been waxed and burnished by Mr. Wm. Burnham, until it shone like a mirror, and everything about the hall betokened good taste. The company began to assemble early and at 9 o'clock there was the most brilliant display in the ball that has been witnessed there this season in the way of dancing. Every ticket had been disposed of and the floors and galleries were filled with spectators and dancers .-Chandler had selected the best musical talent that could be found in the city, and the music was of the highest order. Everybody seemed to enjoy the scene and the order of dances was carried out to perfection. The printed order was a very tasteful and unique thing, got up in handsome style by Mr. George A. Jones. After the first part of the order of dances had been disposed of the large company retired to the reception hall, where three long tables had been spread and an exceedingly handaome supper provided by Mr. D. K. Reed, the popular proprietor of the restaurant under Lancaster Hall. Full justice was done to the viands be set before them; and, after retreshing themselves to their hearts' content, the company returned to the large hall and resumed dancing, which they were enjoying when we left at one o'clock this morning. The General Committee, Reception Committee and Floor Committee have carried out the festival for the 19th Anniversary in a style and manner that has given pleasure to all who participated in it.

ARRESTED FOR BORBERY. - Yesterday norning we gave an account of a dastardly asault upon and highway rebbery of Patrick McGlinchy the evening previous. Informa-tion was left by him with Deputy Decille at the station who simmediately set the police to work to discover and arrest the robbers. About half past two yesterday morning, he with a posse of police arrested Peter Daley at his father's house and lodged him in jail. On the morning train to Boston officer Barbour arrested between Saco and Biddeford, one Lawrence Murray, a fellow who hails from Boston. On him was found about half of the stolen money, some being concealed in his boot. He confessed the robbery and told where the watch and the pocket-book were concealed, and in accordance with his directions, the marshal found them under a marble slab in front of Fletcher & Fay's on Silver street. Murray implicates Daley in the transaction and says he knocked McGlinchy down and took half of the spoils. Daley however denies all knowledge of the affair.

CITY HALL SUNDAY EVENING.-The Rev. Geo. F. Clark, announced to speak upon the subject of Temperance to morrow evening will no doubt give our citizens a very interesting and instructive address. In Massachusetts, where he is well known, he has the reputation of being a very able lecturer; he probably understands the Temperance question as well as any man in New England.

Prof Denton's Lectures To the Editor of the Press:

I see by the papers that this distinguished scientist is to give a course of six lectures on geology, beginning Monday evening next, at Brown's Hall, corner of Brown and Congress streets. Those of your readers who attended his lectures a few weeks ago; need not bd told that he is surpassingly eloquent in treating a subject with which all ought to be better acquainted. Let me assure the ladies and gentlemen of the city and adjoining towns, that they will never regret the dollar they may spend for this splendid exhibition of science.

THE PRUSSIAN EXCESSES.

BORDEAUX, Dec, 30.—Accounts received bere show that both Prussian and French troops have suffered terribly from cold. Strong reinforcements have been sent forward to all points to replace the French soldiers thus incapaciatted. Vast quantities of materials, calculated to increase the comfort of troops have also been sent to the front. It appears that the Prussians committed excesses at Orleans and Blois because the inhabitants who had been ruined were not able to meet their requisitions. At Orleans the Prussians threatened to take away as hos: a jes fifty prominent citizens ucless 600,000 francs were paid for the mattreatment of Prussian soldiers.

KING WILLIAM TO THE QUERN.

KING WILLIAM TO THE QUEEN. BERLIN, Dec. 30 .- The king has sent the following telegram to Queen Augusta.

Versailles, Dec. 29—The bombardment of Fort Avron silenced the enemy's guns. The railway station at Noisy was shelled and the French artillery at Bondy dislodged. The Prussian loss was three men. The garison of fort Avron fled into Paris.

PROGRESS OF THE BOMBARDMENT OF PARIS. MARGENCY, Dec. 28.—[Special to Tribune.] A dozen shells were sent yesterday inside of Paris into La Villette and Belleville from Rainey at a range of 7000 yards. The French have erected six batteries on the plain between La Consorenne and Draucy. The railway station of Babyery, which hitherto was of immense use to the French, is now commanded by German batteries. The German loss during the cannonading yesterday was twenty-three.

MURDER BY THE INSURGENTS.

HAVANA, Dec. 29.—[Special to N. Y. Herald']—On the 18th inst. 300 insurgents, including 40 negroes, armed with cutlasses, sacked and burned Socapa, a fishing village opposite Moro Fortress, at the mouth of the harbor. They forced the small detachment of detenders to retreat and killed nine persons, including two women. They decamped after taking everything from the village. Moro fired twice at each party but ineffectually. As there were no boats to carry troops over those which were sent to intercept the rebels arrived too late. On entering the village they found the corpses of the victims partly baked and in horrible condition. The rebel President Cespedes is in jurisdiction of Santiago. The filibuster steamer Hornet passed Juaqua on the 1sth inst., followed three hours later by a British steamer. It is now rumored here (Havana) that the Hornet has entered the bay of Nipe and landed her expedition. MURDER BY THE INSURGENTS.

Spain. THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF PRIM-CONSPIRACY AGAINST MONARCHISTS. CONSPIRACY AGAINST MONAECHISTS.

MADRID, Dec. 29.—[Special to tHerald.]—The city is greatly excited in consequence of the attempted assassination of Prim. The sht fired was evidently small and from a smooth boragun. The wound was not daugerous but the laceration of the finger rendered amputation necessary. Shortly after the attempted assassination descents were made by the police upon three places known as the harborage of Republicans. Five arrests of parties supposed implicated have been made. No arrests were made at the time, although it was nearly dark and a large number of citizens and soldiers were gathered at the corner of the plaza. Today the information obtained from the papers seized shows that the conspiracy was of extensive character. The members were sworn to exterminate or assassinate all public enemies of the republic. It is believed that the murder of Prim was opposed by some on the ground that nothing should be attempted till the arrival of the Duke of Aosta. Lots were drawn for the selection of three persons to undertake the killing of Prim. The Ministry of War are in possession of procediate time. drawn for the selection of three persons to undertake the killing of Prim. The Ministry of War are in possession of proof identitying the assassins but have not succeeded making arrests. It is certain of a conspiracy of the most extensive character and plots well laid. Today there were some expressions of indignation at the attempted crime but generally indifference is cvinced by the mass of populalation. Great activity is evident at the war office and carriers are dispatched to Barcelona and other noints with stringent orders to mill.

office and curriers are dispatched to Barcelona and other points with stringent orders to military commandants. There are rumors of the union of Carlists and Republicans against the common enemy, foreign Kings. The Ministry contemplate a change of programme for the route by which the newly elected King will make his entrance into Madrid. This is to be done in view of the attempt on the life of Prim, and in order to baffle the conspirators should further assassinations be designed. General Sickles, U. S. Minister, and other foreign governments, congratulated Gen. Prim from head to foot. ARRIVAL OF THE NEW KING.

The squadron from Italy, bearing the future king of Spain, was signalized off Barcelona yesterday, and will reach Carthagens to day. It is believed the government will withdraw its bill suspending the constitutional guarantees.

Farm at Auction. Farm at Auction.

The valuable and well known Farm of the late Ezeklei Merrill of Yarmouth, situated one mile trom Yarmouth Falis, and ten miles from Portland. This farm contains upwards or 120 acres of land well divided into pasturage, wood land and tillage. It is nearly in the form of an oblong square, very easily ienced, being bounded on two sides by rivers and divided only by the county road which cuts it nearly in the centre. The farm cuts from 50 to 60 tons of hay and may be easily made to produce double this amount, and is one of the very best stock and hay farms in Comberland county, and offers a rare opportunity to purchasers. Said tarm will be offered in two parts, the first containing about seventy-live acres of land, has a good

The Doctor speaks with great fluency, is thorough-y at home upon his theme, and has a way or saving vise and racy things that is altogether original and erreshing.— Boston Post. Dr. Hebbard is not only one of the best lecturer in the country—he stands high as an Orator, Poe and Author. He is author of the popular poems: "The Parriot's Hope," "The Night of Fredom," "Toil and Toilers," and of various works on Physiology, Anatomy, Hygeine, etc. His widely known efforts before the Lyceums, and of orations before many Literary Institutions of this country place him among the foremost men of the times.—The North American.

The following is one of the resolutions passed with great enthusiasm, (so says the Brooklyn Eagle.) by the immense audience assembled to hear Dr. Hebbard's concluding lecture before the Young Men's Cirist an Association of that city.

Resolved. That it is a great pleasure to express our appreciation of Prot. Heobard as a popular instructor. We have found him entertaining in manner, scientific in treatment, protound in research, convincing in argument, elaborate and impressive. While his logic has wrought conviction, his wit has touched our risibles, and his stories smused to a high degace; and the parity of his motives, his earnestness, enthusiasm and eloquence have won our admiration, our confidence and esteem.

No series of Lectures have ever been given in Boston of more vital importance than Dr. Hebbard's; and the masterly and agreeable manner in which he treats the momentous subjects under consideration, shows him to be a iborough student, and a finished scholar.—Boston Journal.

The year

Has gole, and with it many a glorious throng Ot happy dreams. Its mark is on each brow, its shadow in each heart. In its swit course it waved its sceptre o'er the beautiful, And they are not. It laid its pallid hand Upon the strong man; and the haughty form it fallen, and the flashing eye is dim.

It trod the hall of revelry, where thronged The bright and joyous; and the tearful wall Of stricken ones is heard, where erst the song And reckless shout resounded. It passed o'er The battle-plains where sword, and spear and shield Flashed in the light of midday; and the strength Of serried hosts is shivered, and the grass, Green-from the soil of carnage, waves above The crushet and mollering skeleton. It came, And favied like a wreath of mist at eve; Yet, ere it melted in the viewless air, It beralded its millions to their home, in the dim land of dreams.

Remorseless Time!

Fierce spirit of the glass and scythe! What power Can stay him in his silent course, or melt His iron heart to pity! On, still on, He presses, and forever. The proud bird, The condor of the Andes, that can soar Through beaven's unfathomable depths, or brave The fury of the northern hurricane, And baths his plumage in the thunder's home, Farls his broad wings at night-tall, and sinks down To rest upon his mountain crag; but Time Knows not the weight of sleep or weariness; And Night's deep darkness has no chain to bind His rushing pinion.

Revolutions sweep
O'er earth like troubled visions o'er the breast
Of dreaming sorrow; cities rise and sink
Like bubbles on the water; fiery isles
Spring blazing irom the ocean and go back
To their mysterious caverps; mountains rear
To heaven their bold and blackened clifts, and bow
Their tall heads to the plain; and empires rise,
Gathering the strength of hoary centuries,
And rush down, like the Alpine avalanche
Startling the nations; and the very stars,
Yon bright and filorious blazonry of God,
Giltter awhile in their eternal depths,
And, like the Pleiad, loveliest of their train,
Shoot from their glorious spheres, and pass away
To darkle in the trackless world; yet Time,
Time, the tomb-builder, holds his fierce career,
Dark, stern, all pitiless, and passes not
Amid the mighty wrecks that strew his path,
To sit, and muse, like other conquerors,
Upon the fearful roin he hath wrought.

requipped.

The greater part of the road is already in operation, and the present earnings are largely in excess of the operating expenses and interest on the Bonds. The balance of the work necessary to establish through connections, thereby shortening the distance between St. Paul and Chicago 45 miles, and 90 miles to St. Louis, is rapidly progressing, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated, will double the present income of the road. Several days ago Samuel T. Andrews, a brisk young man, was arrested on board a United States exessel in Boston harbor accused of swindling in various ways a confiding widow in whose services he had been, first as executing and afterward as some of the second statement and account of the second statement of the second oachman and afterward as general confiden-ial agent and friend. The man is now de-ained in the jail in that city, and recounts s own version of the matters at issue in the nost interesting and plausible way. As he ells it, the story is a veritable romance, and Andrews may certainly be credited with giv-ing the world a tale far ahead of the inven-tions of the average novelist, be it true or false. His statement, as voluntarily given, we shall give without comment, reserving that until he shall have had his examination. ndrews is a man about 33 years old, well built intelligent, with a shrewd and not alto-gether guileless expression, and has an envia-ble fluency and force of language, which set off his story in the best way.

He says that seven years ago last July he was in the service of Mr, Vanderbilt, son of the old commodore, at Hartford, as coachman. Near the place resided Mrs. Antoinette Gridley and her daughter, living in fine style and sporting a magnificent turn out. Their coachman left suddenly, and they sent, one day, for Andrews, who came at their need, cared for both their horses and Vanderbilt's for some time, and finally hired out to them for $25 a month, "and found." Mrs. Gridley was then represented to be worth at least a half million of dollars, and was reputed to be a southern lady of aristocratic habits and connections, and their style of living bore out the statement. The truth was that she was the wife of a Connecticut valley farmer, who sold statement. The truth was that she was the wife of a Connecticut valley farmer, who sold his rural property and moved to New Haven for his health, where he invested luckily in stocks and got together a neat little fortune, which Andrews does not believe was much over $50,000 when he came to live with them, a few months after Gridley's demise. The widow sold out in New Haven, and bought a fine house in Hartford, and then sold that and took a less expensive though still stylish one, where Andrews joined them.

He had been in their employ for two

He had been in their employ for two years before he began to suspect that they were running out their property, which he asserts was not kept invested in stocks, but him money right at hand. First they put their house up for sale, asking $27,000; they got no offer higher than $16,000, and finally sold it for $15,000, half down, and half mortgaged. During the months before the sale of the house, Mrz. Gridley disposed of their splendid carriage, worth $1000, and their fine horses,—Andrews is an enthusiast on the subject of horses—pretending that some one had criticized her bargain in buying them. She got a cheaper pair, then traded them off, and finally soid out all the livery appurtenances. Andrew's services should naturally have ended here, but, on the contrary, he was taken into their inmost confidence. His wages were no longer paid, but he was given the privileges of the family, and in their intimate society he lived. He transacted all their business, sold out stocks at Mrs. Gridley's direction, and as their circumstances grew more and more embarrassed, he gradually sold off their furniture and pawned their jewies, redeeming them and then repawning for months. Notwithstanding this state of penury, Mrs. Gridley refused to pause in her dashing career. Her husband's agent, a New Haven broker named Reynolds, visited her, urgently imploring her not to waste the fortune his wise investments had made, and they had a stormy quarrel, resulting in final es-He had been in their employ for two urgently imploring her not to waste the for-tune his wise investments had made, and they had a stormy quarrel, resulting in final es-trangement, Her daughter Nettie, a very lovely young woman, of fine character, edu-cation and accomplishments, attempted in vain to dissuade her from her extravagance. As one illustrative item of her lavish outley, Andrews said that at one time he was given $10,000 to purchase clothing and jewels alone, and did so. At about this time, the lady had and old So. At about this time, the lady had capricious notions of buying new residences, now in one place, now in suether. Andrews was sent to look over a fine property on Chestnut hill in Hartford, and the Mr. Reynolds above referred to actually did buy a neat place in New Britain, which Mrs. Gridler rejected in scorn when she went to look ley rejected in scorn when she went to look at it, and threw up the bargain, paying $3000 forieit for her fickle freak. This was the immediate occasion of the quarrel with the New Haven broker. When the Hartford house was finally sold, at so great a sacrifice, the $7500 cash was used to been the strangely. was lutary sold, at so great a sacrifice, the $7500 cash was used to keep the strangely alled three at a hotel in Bridgeport through the winter, and tide them through the balance of the year in Hartford, where they rented apartments in the spring. When this was exhausted, poverty itself came. Then Andrews was the only reliance of the mother and daughter. He was indefatigable. He pawned furniture, clothing, jewels, watches, article after article, selling many things for article after article, selling many things for far less than their value from mere necessity. He was once arrested in Hartford when he offered a diamond ring in pawn, on suspicion of having stolen it, and Mrs. Gridley came into the police court and vouched for his story to the police court and vouched for his story.

The undersigned would urge the importance of more attention to the children's first teeth, and in doing so would announce to parents of Fortland and vicinity that he is prepared to give special attention to the children. The general impression with parents is that the first teeth are of little importance, and they seem surprised when the dentist recommends filling, brushing, and other means of preservation. Every one should know that a diseased condition of the teeth and gums, and a premature loss of the first feeth, cause contraction of the jaw, with which it is impossible to have a healthy and handsome set of permanent teeth. With fifteen years' practical experience in the profession, I am fully prepared to treat and fill teeth, or insert artificial teeth. I am using Western's Metal, which for under plates has many advantages over every other material.

I have introduced into my practice the Nitrous Oxac Gas; shall be prepared to administer it at all hours; have had five years' experience in its use as an anesthesse. This ring had been given him by that lady, nd he had worn it over a year on his finger The most unique and romantic part of this strange tale is yet to be told. During these years of gradual ruin, Andrews and Miss Gridley had been betrothed. The beautiful irl loved him heartily and devotedly. She had vowed before heaven to love him forever had vowed before heaven to love him forever and to marry no other man. This was the loadstone which irresistibly held Andrews to the falling fortunes of the foolish widow. He loved Nettie Gridley with so deep and true a constancy that he tried at first to blind himself to the utterly reckless extravagance that was going on, and finally remained to share and if possible, to lighten the coming disasters. The three, mother, daughter and lover, had together taken a solemn compact an ansesthese.

And after the scene of the struggle was again changed, this time to Norwalk, Andrews determined to get work elsewhere and try to help them. He left them, September 5, went NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of THOMAS HOUSTON, late of Portland, in the County of Cumberland, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust as the law directs. He was drafted to come to Charlestown to join the California, and here bethought him of a friend through whom he could transmit the half pay which he intended to leave for the widow and her daughter. This friend was Mr. Henry Cotton, engaged in the navy yard, and formerly a member of the Pioneer hose company in Hartford, with Andrews. He also finds it hard to accept it as a fact that Mrs. Gridley has instituted this prosecution, although her

This ends the story of Andrews, as he told here. The tale is embellished in some spots by reporters,—one giving a highly poetic account of Nettie's visit with Andrews to the WANTED. grave of her father, and there in the solemn twilight plighting him her troth,—but it is substantially the same. All that is absolutely certain is that Andrews enjoyed a close con-fidence and trustful intimacy, very rare in-deed in such positions, which renders his guilt,—if he be guilty of the purloining and speculation charged against him,—very hei-nous indeed. it is estimated, will double the present income of the road.

The established character of this road running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors, as in every respect, an undoubted security. A small quantity of the issue only remains unsold, and when the enterprise is completed, which will be this Fall, an immediate advance over subscrition price may be looked for.

These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds campat fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par. U. S. Five-twenties at present prices only return 4½ per cent. currency interest, while these bonds pay 9½ per cent., and we regard them to be as safe and fully equal as a security to any Railroad Bond issued; and until they are placed upon the New York Stock Exchange, the rules of which require the road to be completed, we obligate ourseives to re-buy at any time any of these Bonds sold by us a firer this date at the same price as realized by us on their sale.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Byspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colle and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrheea, but one mild dose is generally required. dose is generally required.

For Eheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints discovered.

DR. J. B. HUGHES, PRIVATE MEDICAL ROOMS Next the Proble Hor

No. 14 Preble Street, Where he can be consulted privately, and wis the utmost confidence by the affloted, at hours delly, and from 8 A.M. to 9 P. M.
Dr. W. addresses those who are suffering under the afflictuce of private disasses, whether arising from impure connection of the terrible vice of self-abuse.
Devoting his entire time to that particular branch of the medical profession, he feels warranted in GuanAFFREING 4 CUES IT ALL CASES, whether of long standing or recently controtted, entirely removing the standing or recently controcted, entirely removing the dregs of disease from the system, and making a parl fact and PERMATHENT OFFIR.

He would call the attention of the efficient to the act of his long-standing and well-earned reputation urnishing systems assurance of his skill and success.

MEDICAL.

Every intelligent and thinking person must know hat remedies handed out for general use should have their efficacy established by well tested experience in the hands of a regularly educated physician, whose preparatory studies it him for all the duties he must raidil; yet the country is fleeded with poor nostrums and ours-alls, purpose at the best in the world, which are not only steers, but always injurious. The unturused size is the Particular in selecting his physician, as it is a lamentable yet moontrovertible fact, that mean sphilittle patients are made nilearable with rous of constitutions by maltreatment from inexperienced physicians in general practice; for tiss point generally candented by the best syphilogradhers, that the study and management of these come disints should engross the whole time of those who would be competent and successful in their treatment and ours. The inexperienced general practicities, having neither opportunity nor time to makinged quantities with their pathology, commonly pursues one system of trestment, in most cases making an indisorbulante use of the antiquated and dangerous weapon, the Moreury.

Al who have committed an excess of any inches ther it be the solitary vice of youth, or the tinging rebuke of misplaced confidence in maturer year, Sake for As AFTIDOTS IN SEASON.

The Pains and Aches, and Lassitude and Nervous Prostration that may follow Impure Cottlemare the Barometer to the whole system.

Do not wait for the consummation that is sure to follow; do not wait for Unsightly Ulcars, for Disabled Limbs, for Loss of Beauty and Complexion.

Mew Hamy Theusames Cam Testify to This by Underppy Experience!

Young men troubled with emissions in sleep,—somplaint generally the result of a bad habit in youth,—treated scientifically and a perfect cure warranted or no charge made.

Hardly a day passes but we are consulted by one or more young men with the above disease, some of whom are as weak and emaciated as though they had the consumption, and by their friends are supposed to have it. All anche cases yield to the proper and only correct course of treatment, and in a short time are made to rejoice in perfect health.

There are many men of the age of thirty who are the ball determined by a slight smarting or burning sensetion, and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will lotten be found, and sometimes small particles of semen or albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and turbid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the account Stade Ov Seminal Wrakkers.

I can warrant a perfect cure in such cases, and a full and healthy restoration of the urinary organs.

Persons who cannot personally consult has Dr., can do so by writing, in a plain manner, a description of their diseases, and the appropriate ramedies will be forwarded immed ately.

2all correspondence strictly confidential and will be returned, if destred.
